

Websites for Parents and Children

Fine Motor and Sensory Strategies

The wealth of educational resources available on-line can be both amazing and overwhelming as parents search for appropriate, good quality material of interest for their children. The following are a few helpful sites that offer information and activities for parents and children.

Fun practice materials for children to work on their fine motor skills:

- www.sciencealberta.org
- www.pbs.org/parents/fungames
- www.crayola.com/parents
- www.dltk-kids.com
- www.familyfun.com
- www.kizclub.com

General sites offering information on a variety of disabilities, links to resources and parent support information:

- www.childrensdisabilities.info/
- www.canchild.ca
- www.adhd.com

Information and resources regarding sensory processing (how we cope with sensory input from our environment):

- www.sensorysmarts.com
- http://classes.kumc.edu/sah/resources/sensory_processing/index.htm
- www.alertprogram.com

